

2026 World Cup Pool

Hello everyone, with the biggest tournament in sports returning, we would like to invite you to join our 2026 FIFA World Cup Pool. If you've participated in March Madness bracket pools, fantasy sports, Master's pools, or any other survivor/pick'em leagues, this competition is for you. The World Cup is a little more complex than a traditional tournament (especially this year), so we've outlined everything below.

How it Works

Before the tournament begins, each participant will make predictions for both the group stage and knockout rounds. For each of the 12 initial groups of four, you will select the group winner, runner-up, and third place. You will receive points for each correct winner and runner-up. You will then also select the 8 third places team out of the 12 that you think will advance to the knockout round, earning points for each

Once you've determined the 32 teams advancing to the knockout rounds, you'll complete a full bracket by selecting the winners of each match all the way through the World Cup Final.

Because the knockout bracket can be arranged in many different ways depending on group stage results, points are awarded for correctly identifying teams that win a round, regardless of where they appear in the actual bracket. Example: if you predict France to win a quarterfinal match and France ends up doing so, you'll receive full points even if they end up on the opposite side of the bracket of your prediction.
